This program offers secondary students a comprehensive approach to the world of literature in English, with a focus on original works by American and British authors. Far from being nothing more than a reading comprehension course, it aims at offering the students the opportunity to work on and discuss both classical and popular pieces of literature of various genres and types, including fiction and non-fiction, in order to foster an interest in literature and critical thinking from an early age. Like a series of stepping-stones, the different levels of the program are organized around the intellectual development of the students, starting with the most basic building blocks and finishing with college-level textual analysis and essay writing. Each grade features a closed list of compulsory, non-abridged, non-adapted works to study with the students, along with a compendium of shorter works (short stories, speeches, poems...) that can be used in order to complement the theme of each unit. Furthermore, even though the course focuses on literature in all its forms, various other media will be used, including but not limited to music and movies. Grade 6 literature is the only course entirely focused on works from writers from the United States, mimicking the kind of course organization students will most certainly encounter in freshman level in college. It is very demanding in terms of reading, inviting the students to read many different works from widely different genres, and will challenge their quick reading skills. With texts ranging from the early 19th century to the 1980s, fiction and non-fiction, the course offers an exploration of the American society through its history, ideals, and culture. The class focuses heavily on modern mythology in the U.S. society, from the expansion of the western frontier to the self-made yuppie of the 1980s.
